1. the full moon

Hey all so here is my prologue to my new h2o twilight crossover fanfic, I hope you like it more shall come soon. Now on with the story!

-coraline

Song chapter -

full moon by black ghosts

"race you to the moon pool?" Rikki asked as we stood on Emma's back patio.

"I'm gonna win!" I squealed taking off down to the ramp to the water, with out a second thought I kicked off and dived into the water enjoying the feeling as it wrapped around my body and soaked my clothes.

My body began to tingle and I became water for a split second then I had my wonderful long orange tail, with a simple flick of my tail I jetted off towards mako island.

I reached the reef scattering fish as I swam by. I swam up to the surface and flipped over to float on my back.

I felt at peace staring at the big silver full moon. I lost myself to the moons powerful aura.

Soon I was joined by Emma Rikki and Cleo they copied me and began floating on there backs too, I don't know how long time had ticked by as we watched the moon.

I rolled of my back and dived under the water and headed for the moon pool.

We entered the moon pool me going first then Emma the Cleo then Rikki, our heads bobbed up above the water just as the moon came over head.

The pool started bubbling as the moons magic took hold, the small golden bubbles started floating up towards the moon.

Cleo reached her hand up to the moon and we all copied there was a gust of wind created by me and Cleo, then snow fell on us created by Emma, then lightning stroke created by Rikki.

As the moon moved away from the moon pool, the bubbles died stopped and we all lowered our hands.

We swam out of the moon pool and took our time getting to the beach exploring the reefs and enjoying being mermaids.

A while later we reached the beach.

We dragged our selves up onto the sand away from the water, we had gotten out near some rocks so no one could see us, Rikki dried off her tail then dried of the rest of us.

We all turned around and watched the moon hover just above the horizon, the moon fell out of the sky and disappeared into the ocean, we sat down on the sand and all fell asleep.

2. sunrise

_**Hey all okay here's the first chapter, this story is not top priority so it will be updated slowly maybe like once a fortnight depends on what I feel like writing. In the meantime check out my other story!**_

_**Okay enjoy xo**_

_**- Coraline **_

_**I couldn't find a song for the chapter :(**_

I slowly opened my eyes, to only be blinded by a bright light.

I sat up, to see I was on the beach.

Crowds of family's were pilling onto the beach taking good use of this warm sunny day.

How the hell did I get here, what happened last night?

I turned to see Cleo Emma and Rikki still asleep.

I reached out and shook Rikki's arm.

"Rikki, wake up" I said

She opened her eyes, and sat up

"what are we doing here?" she asked.

"I don't know" I said looking up to the tumbling waves.

"Cleo, Emma wake up" Rikki said kicking their legs.

"what happened last night?" Cleo asked rubbing her eyes.

" I don't know, but Lewis might, lets go" I said standing and brushing the sand of my shorts.

We all headed up to the board walk and towards Emma's.

We were halfway there, we decided to cut across the oval.

"I have the worst headache" Rikki said rubbing her head.

We got up onto the road when I noticed Emma wasn't with us.

"Em?" I called turning around

"yeah hang on my shoelace is untied" she said bending down to do it back up

She came back up and was just about to take a step forward when water sprayed out from the ground

"Ail!" Emma yelled,

Cleo was quick to turn of the sprinkler.

I counted down the seconds before her tail would appear.

1â€|2â€|3â€|4â€|5

I threw up my hand and used my water power to pull all the water of her, id practised this heaps since I had become a mermaid.

I managed to get all the water of her and her clothes.

Until it was all in one giant ball.

"that was close" said Emma walking up towards us.

"good thing I know how to do this" I said throwing the water ball back onto the grass.

We all ran back to Emma's.

"Lewis you here?" I called out

"what?! I'm awake!" Lewis yelled for the lounge room, then there was a thump

"Lewis?" Cleo yelled running to the lounge room.

Cleo started giggling

"what's funny?" Rikki asked as we walked forward.

When we turned the corner we saw what was funny, Lewis had been sleeping on the couch and was now on the floor tangled in blankets.

Me and Rikki couldn't contain ourselves we bursted out laughing.

Emma just shook her head at us and sat down on the couch.

I headed to the kitchen in much need of food.

"so what happened last night?" Rikki asked

"well our dear friend Aleeya here forgot to put cardboard on the windows in Emma's bathroom, and I bet you guys can guess the rest"

I was shocked I was sure I had put cardboard on that window.

"but I did cover it Lewis, I'm sure of it" I said puzzled

"well it wasn't when you called us all upstairs for some emergency and then Rikki Emma and Cleo got moon struck then you all raced out back and jumped into the water"

" I.. I thought I covered it" I said walking over to sit on the couch next to Emma.

"its okay Ali, we forget things sometime's it over and done with now" Emma said giving me a hug

Emma was always the more proper of the group and you didn't often see this side of her, sure she was caring but usually she would rant and rave about something like this. Maybe she felt she owed me from saving her tail this morning on the oval.

"so was that all you saw last night Lewis?" Cleo asked

"pretty much I looked for you guys but I couldn't find you so I came home" Lewis said looking at us all

"did you guys stay at mako all night?" he asked

"no we woke up on the beach" Rikki said standing up

"where you going?" I asked

"I gotta go find Zane" she was already at the front door when I said

"what for?" but she Just continued to walk out the door.

"okay" emma said confused

"I need food or I think I might die" I said as my tummy rumbled.

"well, me and Lewis will go to the juice net with you" Cleo said

"shoot I have a shift this morning" emma said jumping up and looking at her watch

"that I'm 3 minuets late for! Ash will be wondering where I am!" emma said running upstairs to get her things

" we'll meet you there" I yelled out

I was now sitting alone at the counter sipping on my cranberry booster, Lewis had surprised Cleo with a picnic at mako so now I was alone.

my phone buzzed inside my pocket.

I pulled out my phone to see that my mum was calling

"hey mum, what's up?" I asked

"well I have some bad news" she said I hint of worry in her voice

All thoughts of bad things went through my head.

Has someone in our family died?, Is my brother Sam okay?, does mum have to go back to the CIA in Washington?

"what is it?" I asked slowly fearing the worst

"why don't you come home and we can talk about it" mum said

"okay" I said then hung up

"you okay Aleeya?" ash asked walking past

"me? Um yeah, I gotta go" I said sliding off the stool.

3. When it all falls apart

Song chapter:

When it all falls apart

The veronicas

I pushed open the front door, and headed for the kitchen

"Mum?" I called she wasn't in the kitchen

"In my room" she called from upstairs

I walked slowly up the stairs and headed into her room

"Mum what are you doing?" she was sitting on the floor folding clothes into a suitcase.

"They need me to work on a case in Washington" she said zipping the bag shut and standing up.

"oh, I can stay at Emma's for as long as I need to her family loves me" I said excited

A couple of moths staying at Emma's are going to be so much fun

"No darling, iv arranged for you to stay with Sam in Washington" she said patting my head and walking downstairs

"What?" Washington! I can't go to Washington, even worse I can't go to forks it rains 24/7 how the hell am I meant to hide being a mermaid if it freaking rains all the time?!

"Mum its fine can stay here!" I said frantic

"But you haven't seen Sam since you were 4 Ali. It will be good for you"

"Iâ€¦ I can't go!" I was freaking out I can't go to forks!

"and why not?" she asked putting her hands on her hips looking at me with one eyebrow raised.

"I would be leaving my life, my friends, my school! You have dragged me from Seattle to New Zealand and then we came here and I felt I found somewhere I belong! A PLACE WHERE I CAN BE ME!" I shouted I was mad and upset

"I'm sorry Aleeya but it's not up for discussion and after this case blows over I promise you can come back. I have to leave tonight, so I need you to stay at one of the girls and they are going to have to take you to the airport tomorrow"

I stood there shocked for a few minutes, not moving

"I suggest you go get packed and call one of the girls to figure out where you're going to stay, because I have to be out of here by 3"

I glanced at the clock hanging above the counter in the kitchen, it was already 11

I ran upstairs and into my room shutting and locking the door, I pulled out my phone and dialled Cleo's number, she answered on the second ring

"Hello?"

"Hey Cleo it's me" I was fighting to keep back the tears that wear threatening to spill out

"Hey Ali, are you okay you sound upset" Cleo now sounded worried

Cleo could always tell when something was wrong

"I'm moving" I said not bothering to hide back the tears anymore

"What? Why? When? Where!" Cleo asked in a rush

"My mum got called back into the CIA and she is sending me to my step brothers home, I leave tomorrow" I said getting up and pulling out my suitcase from under the bed

"Oh Ali, everything will be okay its only for a little while, where are you going?" she asked trying to comfort me

"Forks Washington" I started throwing clothes into the bag

"Wait you're going to live in forks, Ali you can't go to forks it rains there every day!"

"I know but I think it will be okay I've been practising with my powers and I've gotten better at stoping water from getting on me"

But I knew that with the kind of downpours that they have in forks this was going to be hopeless, everyone is going to find out my secret and they will ship me of to some crazy scientist where they will probably make me try to talk to fish and run all kinds of creepy tests.

"Hey can we all stay at yours tonight, my mum leaves at 3 and I have nowhere to go?" I asked

"We can't stay here; my dad is being a jerk. I'll call Emma and get back to you" and with that she hung up.

I huffed and walked over to my shelves and got out all the books I can't live without, which included; twilight, house of night, vampire academy.

In less than two hours I had managed to pack everything into 3 suit cases and 2 bags.

I sat on my floor and looked at my empty room, thinking of all the great moments I've had in this room, like the day I found out I was a mermaid.

I walked into my room and flopped down on the bed, last night was so stressful.

First I decided it was nice to go for a nice walk along the beach, with the water being too hard to resist I jumped in and swam out as far as I dared, and with my luck I was pulled out to deeper ocean by a rip the waves where crashing all over me causing me to swallow water and have no air. I felt myself begin to sink under the surface; the last thing I saw was inky blackness of the sea then 3 orange objects.

I woke up on what I assumed was the beach and just figured I had washed up.

When I stood up and looked around I didn't see people or buildings instead I saw thick jungle, where the hell was I ?!

I reached into my pocket for my phone only to realize how stupid I was; of course my phone wouldn't work it was soaked with sea water.

I hadn't lived here for more than a week yet so I figured I was still on the gold coast I decided to explore and see if I could find anyoneâ€|

The moon was full so it wasn't hard to see. I had gone deep into the jungle and was now standing near a waterfall on some rocks. I gazed up at the moon and took in its comforting glow. I took a step back and slipped on the rocks and fell.

Landing painfully on my butt, I groaned and searched my surroundings; it looked like I was in some kind of cave.

I noticed a soft blue glow coming from the left of the cave.

Letting my curiosity take over, I followed the strange glow through the cave.

I came out into a bigger cave with a pool; I looked up to see the open night sky and the edge of the moon coming overhead.

I soon realized it was the inside of a volcano.

As the moon rose over head the most amazing and strange thing happen, the pool started to bubble up like a spa and small gold bubbles started to rise up out of the water.

I didn't know what came over me but I suddenly longed to be in the water.

Without a second thought I jumped in

The water was soothing and cool. My legs oddly started to tingle. But the whole time I couldn't take my eyes of the moon.

The pool died down as the moon moved away.

I regretfully climbed out of the pool as the water was suddenly cold.

"what the hell are you doing here?!" a guy standing at the cave entrance, scaring the bejeebus out of me.

"I fell down here, why are you here?" I asked

His um'ed and ah'ed running a hand through his sandy blonde hair.

"I um come here sometimes, to um think aboutâ€| things" he stuttered.

"Right" I totally did not believe him something was up.

I later learned his name was Lewis and that I was actually on an island called mako.

We managed to get out and he gave me a ride back to the mainland and took me home. When we stopped at my house he asked me

"Did you go in the water when the moon was overhead?"

"No" I lied; I had just met this kid. Sure he had been nice and taken me home but I wasn't about to tell him about that amazing experience.

"okay, well ill catch you later" he said.

Mum wasn't too mad by the time I got home it was only 10:30 at night.

I just lied and said I had made some friends and we were down at the beach.

That morning when I woke up I went straight for the bathtub.

I put my hand in the water to make sure it was the right temperature.

And ten seconds later I was on the floor looking at what was my legs and was now a long orange tail.

I laughed at the thought of that day. And remembered finding Lewis and telling him I had gone in the water and learning that his friends Emma Cleo and Rikki were also mermaids.

My phone buzzed, I flipped it open to read the text it was Cleo.

We are all staying at Emma's tonight xx Cleo

Okay be there soon xo Ali

I shut the phone and got up of the bed to change my clothes.

I slipped into a light blue tank top and a pair of dark blue denim shorts.

"Ali we have to go now or I'll miss my flight" mum called from downstairs.

I dragged all my bags down stairs and piled them into the car.

I sat in the car as mum drove me the short distance to Emma's.

Emma and Cleo where already standing out the front when I pulled up, they took my bags inside and left me to say goodbye to my mum.

"You're going to need warmer clothes up there so here" she said handing me a roll of $50 notes

"Mum?!" I said trying to give her back the money

"No. you will need it" she said

She pulled me into a tight hug.

"Be careful mum"

"and you too my dear"

She pulled back and kissed me on the forehead.

"I love you" she said trying to blink back tears.

"Love you too" I whispered.

Mum slid back into the car, and waved goodbye

Emma and Cleo came up beside me taking my hands in theirs.

Mum pulled out of Emma's drive way and drove off down the street.

"We need a swim" Cleo said

4. Were running away to where we belong

_**Where we belong**_

_**Kate alexa**_

We spent the entire afternoon at mako talking about how amazing being a mermaid was and all the great times we had and all the bad times. Like when Rikki got kidnapped by those phyco people she was selling rare fish to.

And the time Cleo died Emma's hair red.

I was really going to miss this.

Lewis, ash and Zane had all come to the moon pool an hour later with flippers and snorkels.

" come on in the water" Lewis said

And in less then 20 seconds Lewis had thrown Cleo over his shoulder and threw her into the water.

Zane had gone strait for Rikki and picked her bridal style and threw her into the water.

Ash dived for emma, she almost slipped away but he managed to catch her around the waist and take a kicking and giggling emma to the edge of the moon pool and throw her in.

The boys all turned on me then inching closer.

I was pressed against the rock walls with them 10 feet away.

No way was I going to let them get me in.

I threw my hand up and made a long tail of water rise up from the moon pool.

It snaked around them I moved the water around them forcing them to stand at the edge of the pool.

I was just about to let the water push them in when suddenly my feet left the ground.

I screamed as I was now floating 15 feet above the ground.

I looked down to see Cleo with her hand raised manipulating the wind to lift me up and keep me there.

"Cleo!" I yelled

Cleo smirked

"don't you dare - " but I was too late she had dropped her hand.

I screamed as I fell into the pool with a loud splash.

My legs tingled and the water around me bubbled as my tail formed.

I came up to the surface staring daggers at Cleo.

"come on" Emma said diving under the water and heading out of the moon pool.

We all followed Emma out one at a time the boys jumping in and going last.

I swam through the water enjoying the beautiful coloured reef and exotic fish.

In forks there aren't any reefs or beautiful fish, just plain boring sand and rocks and dull grey water.

I swam up to the guys.

"hide and seek?" I mouthed, small bubbles escaping my lips.

Rikki's face broke into a smile.

She pointed to her self and mouthed "I'm in"

Lewis grabbed Cleo's tail and Ash grabbed Emma's.

Zane grabbed mine.

We all sped off in different directions as Rikki went back to the moon pool to count to 150.

I dropped Zane off near some reefs where I made sure was clear of sharks, he still hasn't gotten over his fear of sharks.

Zane gave me a thumbs up, and turned to swim behind some rocks.

I knew exactly where I was going to hide.

I swam around the back of the island to an underwater cave I had found that was a dead end.

I went inside and up to the air pocket at the top of the cave there was a small rock platform.

pulling myself up onto the rock and flicked my hand over my tail. I pulled all the water of my tail and sent the large ball I had made into the water.

I had learnt to do that 3 weeks after becoming a mermaid, it was the first thing I learnt I couldn't believe Cleo hadn't thought of it, I had shown her how to do it, she can do it she just needs a little more practise.

My tail tingled and I shifted back to my human form.

I scooted over to the edge of the rock and sat cross legged and waited.

10 minutes had past and I still hadn't been found and I was starting to get bored.

"hmmâ€¦ I wonder?" I said thinking out loud.

I stood up eager to try this new idea.

I flicked one hand at the water and motioned for some of the water to go up to the roof of the cave and stay there.

Holding the water up with the other hand I made a swirling wind pick up around me.

If wind is air, surely I can manipulate it to put a layer of air around me to make the water bounce off my skin.

I managed to get the air to swirl around me close to my body.

"okay" I whispered and then dropped the water.

I shut my eyes tight waiting to be drenched in water.

But it never happenedâ€¦

Instead the water had fallen around me but not on me.

"yes!" I shouted

I couldn't believe I had done that and first go.

swimming out of the cave so excited to show them what I could do.

I poked my head out from behind some rocks and saw everyone up at the surface.

I swam up and told them I have a new trick and that we should go to the moon pool

Once back at the moon pool I dried off and showed them how I could make the water not fall on me , and they were all shocked and kept asking me to do it again and again.

later back at Emma's house

" I still cant believe you managed to do that Ali" Zane said still amazed

" it sucks that you have to leave and you cant teach me" Cleo said looking down into her ice-cream bowl.

I explained to her how to make the air stay around you and how to hold it up.

She perked up a little bit from now understanding how I did it.

At 11 pm we said goodbye to the guys as Emma's parents wouldn't let them stay.

This would be the last time I would see them for a while.

" bye Aleeya, stay safe" ash said hugging me tightly

"don't get into to much trouble in DC Ali" Zane said hugging me

" keep the secret Ali, your one of us no matter where you are" Lewis said looking me in the eyes, then he gave me a tight hug that I thought wouldn't end.

Lewis had been the first person I told about my mermaid'ness.

He introduced me to Cleo emma and Rikki and made me realize how amazing being a mermaid was.

" thanks guys, I promise I will be back" I said a tear slipping out

They left calling sad goodbyes to the girls.

We all curled up on Emma's bed watching movies and talking.

"I don't want to leave"

" we know Ali" emma said placing a hand on my shoulder.

" I promise I will swim down on weekends"

" its to far Aleeya" Rikki said looking grim

" I can get help from dolphins?"

" there probably aren't any dolphins in that water it would be to cold for them" Cleo commented.

I groaned in defeat.

" I have an idea come on, but be quite. Don't want to wake the parents" emma said slowly opening the door and creeping out.

Totally clueless we all got up and followed her.

She led us to her back yard and down the Warf to the water.

"wait here" emma said running back up to the house.

Emma was taking a long time and I was getting impatient.

I swiftly lifted my hand and commanded the air to pick up Rikki.

She lifted lightly of the ground, attempting to bite back a scream

"Aleeya!" she whispered harshly from above.

I pushed her out over the water and mad her hover their.

Emma was back now holding a camera.

" where's Rikki?" Em asked

I dropped Rikki then, with a yelp she fell into the water.

"there she is" I said giggling

But my giggle was cut short when Cleo came up behind me and pushed me in

" Cleo!"

" you deserved it" she said jumping in

I shook my head and turned to emma.

" what's the camera for?" I asked

" to take photos what else?" emma said stepping up to the edge and diving in

"I promise I'll come back" I whispered as I hugged Emma Rikki and

Cleo.

"You better" Rikki cried

"just be safe and don't touch water" emma said trying to blink back tears and be serious she was totally failing

"I won't "I said attempting to smile

"Don't forget us okay" Cleo said, she was crying hard and was clinging on to my arm like I was going to disappear, which in a way I kind of am.

"the last flight to Seattle leaves in 10 minutes people" I flight attendant yelled through a mega phone from the gate.

"That's my call" I said pulling them into a big hug.

They all called goodbyes as I walked over to the flight attendant and gave her my ticket.

I turned around just before I left the desk, to look at my three best friends.

I couldn't help it, dropping my bag I burst out crying and ran back to them and hurdled myself into their arms.

"I love you guys" I cried

They all cried and held each other tight.

"Miss I'm sorry but the flight is leaving" the lady called from the desk

"I'll call you when I land" I said attempting at a smile and totally failing.

Turning around and picked up my bag, I waved and took one last look at my best friends.

I walked down the hall to the plane.

I was too upset to be mad and angry yet, but I knew when I got there I would be snappy and mean.

I found my seat and put in my headphones and played my favourite song another now by Kate Alexa

"please unfasten your seatbelts we have landed in Seattle, I hope you enjoyed the flight" the captain's voice said coming over the speakers.

Grabbing my bag I slowly stood up and stretched, stiff from the long flight.

I walked out of the plane and into the airport.

Finding my suitcase and duffle bag 10 minutes later I grabbed them and walked out of the airport to find a taxi.

Thankfully it wasn't raining

I walked up to a taxi man; he looked about 23 and was way cute like too cute to be a taxi driver.

He was leaning against the car looking for people to pick up.

"Need a ride miss?" he asked politely flipping his blonde hair out of his eyes

"That would be great thanks" I said walking to the back of the car to put my things in

"I'll get that miss" he said giving me flirty smile

I smiled back and hopped into the car.

Wow a hot taxi driver that's got to be luck I thought.

He slid into the car and looked at me through the rear view mirror.

"Milson Street in port Angeles" I said politely.

He smiled a wide toothy grin and started the car and drove off down the road.

I passed the time while looking out the window but that didn't last long when I started to notice the dark clouds that were coming toward us

"was there any particular spot you wanted to be dropped off?" he asked as we drove down Milson street

I thought about that pulled out my phone and checked the text I had gotten from Sam telling me where I was going.

Milson Street, port Angeles.

Outside the library

-Sam

"Outside the library, was all my brother told me" I said looking at the driver.

"Sure thing" he said driving to the end of the street he pulled up to the curb and let me out.

I pulled my bags from the boot, with his help

"There's the damn girl" I heard a guy yell from behind me

"Screw you Sam!" I yelled not even bothering to turn around, I knew it was him.

Handing the guy my money, and returning him with a flirty smile and a cute thanks with a lot of eye battering he got in the car smiling and sped off.

I turned around then to see Sam standing beside a black truck in a grey shirt and blue denim jeans.

"well you gonna help me Mr muscles" I said putting my hands on my hips, giving him my best bitchie look.

Sam had always had a ripped body and a lush tan which would leave everyone in Australia speechless.

Sam only laughed and walked up picking up my duffle bag and throwing it over his shoulder and pulled along my suitcase.

When reached the car only then did I notice he wasn't alone, a guy with short black hair extremely tanned skin and the best body was leaning against the car.

"Oh Ali, this is my mate Jacob" he said gesturing to who I now knew as Jacob

"Jacob this is Aleeya" Sam said patting me on the head.

I growled and gave he my best glare

Sam only laughed and told me to get into the car.

I gladly scrambled into the car because with just my luck there was a loud thunder crack.

"Someone's in a hurry" Jacob chuckled.

When we had finally reached Sam's house I was extremely thankful it hadn't started raining.

Sam lived down a small stretch of dirt road then you made a sharp left, and tucked into the thick forest was Sam's house. It was a cute wood house with 2 stories, it looked cozy and inviting and at the same time freaky because it reminded me of some scary cabin in the woods. I shook my head mentally to get that thought out. This wasn't a scary cabin it was just Sam's home.

I hadn't noticed Jacob coming up to stand beside me, so I jumped when he started talking

"Um about Sam's fiancée, Emily. Don't stare it kind of bugs Sam" Jacob whispered each word slowly.

I just nodded, because I didn't want to be rude and ask why.

I walked up the small pathway and onto the porch; I opened the glass sliding door and walked in

"You must be Aleeya!" someone said excitedly as they came out of the lounge room

A women walked out she had lovely tanned skin and long black raven hair with a bangs, she wore a green top with a black and white flano unbuttoned over the top and a pair of faded jeans, but the most noticeable thing about her was the 3 long jaggered lines that ran down the right side of her face. That must have been what Jacob was talking about

I immediately looked away when I realized I was just about to hit the time limit when a glance became staring.

"Yeah, you must be Emily" I said meeting her eyes; they were a soft caramel brown.

Emily skipped forward and hugged me tightly

"I know that you wanted to stay in Australia but I promise I will try to make your stay here as pleasant as possible" she said in my ear as she continued to hug me

She pulled back and gave me a warm smile

"Come, I'll show you your room" she said taking my hand and pulling me up the stairs

She opened a door to a small bedroom, it had a queen sized bed â€¦..

"I'll leave you to it then" Emily said shutting the door softly.

Sitting down on the bed I blinked back tears, I already wished I was home back in Australia.

I missed Cleo, Emma and Rikki so much it was tearing me apartâ€¦

A soft knock came from the door

"Yes?" I called hoarsely

"Um your bags are at your doorâ€¦" Emily said dinner would be ready in 5 and that we have company" Jacob said through the door.

I wiped away the tears that had slipped out and opened the door.

"Thanks" I sniffled

"Are you okay? Wait dumb question"

I tried to fight back the tears but Jacob could tell I was about to fall apart

He pulled me into a hug and held me there

His arms were strong and oddly warm wrapped around my small frame.

"Thanks" I whispered into his shoulder

"Anytime"

I pulled back and smiled

Jacob smiled then headed out of the room and down the stairs

I unpacked my bags, folding clothes neatly into the chest of white draws.

With everything unpacked I decided to go down stairs and meet our guests.

I rounded the corner and into the kitchen and at the dining table sat 5 boys.

The only one I recognized was Jacob.

"Aleeya this is Paul, Jarrod, Quil and Embry" Sam said from the kitchen pointing to each of them as he said their names.

All of them had short dark hair though Jarrod and Quil, they all where strangely shirtless and just wore shorts.

It was now that I noticed that they all had what looked like some kind of tribal tattoo on their shoulder, I glanced at Jacob and sure enough I could see the tattoo sticking out from underneath his shirt, Sam had it too. Odd

Sam and Jacob where the only guys actually wearing clothes.

I walked over to the table and took a seat in the spare seat between Paul and Jarrod; they gave me a smile and continued to eat away at the food on their plates.

"hey Sam where is Seth and Leah?" Embry asked

"they stayed home tonight" Sam replied simply

I filled my plate with food and ate quickly I was in a desperate need to get back to my room I didn't like being in the same room with all these shirtless guys, it was to strange.

"Where the hell is ash he was supposed to be hear ages ago" Jacob said to Sam

"You know ash he's a free wolf" Paul laughed

Sam threw him a serious look which kind of looked like a shut up look

I dismissed it and continued to eat.

I finished eating and stood up to take my plate to the kitchen, but what I didn't see was Emily walking behind my chair with a big jug of water.

The jug fell out of her hands and the water drenched me.

Without the time to take all the water of me and explain why I was juggling a huge water ball, I discarded the idea

And bolted for the stairs to get up to my room.

"Aleeya?!" I heard Sam yell after me

I ignored him and kept running to my room.

Counting down the seconds in my head I was up to 6 I was almost at the top of the stairs when I tripped and fell losing valuable seconds, I was now up to 8.

I scrambled to my feet and threw open the door to my room, within one second I had closed and locked the door.

My legs turned into a tail and with a loud thud I fell to the ground.

Groaning I rolled onto my back "great not even here for a day and I've already had water spilled on me" I muttered

Flinging my hand over my tail I tried to pull off all the water it was a slow process but it was the only choice I had.

"Ali are you okay?" Sam called through the door

"Just a minute!" I called

Damn it why wouldn't my tail dry fast enough!

Sam had started to jiggle the door knob.

"Aleeya why is the door locked?"

"Hang on!" I yelled

Finally I changed back

I quickly pulled myself to my feet and opened the door just enough to poke my head out

"Hey Sam" I smiled

"What's going on?"

"I just ran upstairs to dry myself" I explained

He didn't look convinced

"But there's towels downstairs" he said

"Yeah well my top goes see through and it would be rather embarrassing being down there with all those boys"

That struck a nerve on Sam.

"Right, well I'll leave you to it then" he said awkwardly and headed back down the stairs.

I let out a huge breath that I hadn't realized I'd been holding in.

There was no way I was going to go back down stairs.

Great now what to do with the giant ball of water hovering above me.

Keeping my concentration I slowly walked over the window and opened it.

Being careful to not let the incoming rain get on me, I flung the ball of water outside.

Changing into my grey and baby pink striped pj shorts and threw on a blue tank.

I walked out of my room and halfway down the stairs.

"Sam I'm just gonna go to bed!" I called

"Okay!" Sam called back

I had started to walk back up the stairs to my room when I heard the front door open then slam shut

"Ash bout time you showed up!" I heard Jacob say.

Great one more guy for me to meet I thought

I walked lazily into my room and shut the door behind me, flicked of the light and got into bed.

Sleep was just about to consume me when I heard the soft patter of rain on the tin roof of Sam and Emily's house and all I could think wasâ€| just great

Tomorrow is going to be my first day at forks high and it will probably rain.

I tried not to worry too much I knew I was going to be fine with my perfected powers I should be okay, so I shushed that small voice that was having a freak out and tried to go to sleep.

The sound of the rain got louder and heavier on the rood was strangely calming and sent me to my ocean of dreams.

**Song title: ****

Roar- by katy perry

The house was quiet while I sat at the kitchen counter eating my breakfast.

Emily and Sam had already left for work, only leaving a note to say Jacob was going to take me to school.

Pulling my phone from my jeans pocket I checked the weather for today.

It read mostly cloudy with showers throughout the day with a top of 10°

"So hopefully I won't be growing a tail today" I said out loud

"Won't be growing what?" Jacobs's voice asked from behind me

I sprung around and slid off my chair.

"Umm... flowers!" I used the first excuse I could come up with.

"Flowers?" he asked raising one eyebrow at me

"Yeah, I wanted to grow some flowers but I won't get time today" I lied

"Right, so you ready to go?" he asked rocking back and forth on his feet.

"Um, yeah" I grabbed my bag from the bench and followed Jacob out to his car.

In the driveway was a small green car, it wasn't pretty but it wasn't exactly ugly either

I slid into the passenger seat while Jacob slid into the driver's seat and started the car.

It would take only ten minutes to get to school, the beauty of living in a small town.

Jacob flicked the switch to turn on the radio and music started to pour out the speakers at a low sound, from what lyrics I could hear it was something about a boy who was a wolf and should get out of town.

"What do you think of the car?" Jacob asked over the music

Now I know nothing about cars me and the girls always left that stuff to Zane he was the one always interested about cars, Zane attempted to explain cars to me and failed miserably every time.

"It's nice I like the colour" this wasn't going to go anywhere.

"Yeah I like green it reminds me of the forest, I re-did the entire engine because when I brought this car it wouldn't even go" he laughed making a quick side glance at me and smiling.

"Wow that's impressive, I'll know who to go to if I ever need a mechanic" I smiled back.

"Sam told me that this isn't your first time at forks high" Jacob commented glancing at me for a moment then returning his eyes back to the road.

"Yeah I've been there before I went there for one term in year 9 when I was a freshman"

"That's cool, you will probably know people then" Jacob said

"Yeah if they are still here"

The rest of the ride we didn't talk much and by the time he pulled into the school parking lot I had 15 minutes before the bell.

"Thanks for driving me, are you picking me up?" I asked suddenly unsure.

"Yeah I am, I'll be in the lot at three o'clock" he said.

Getting out of the car I looked up at the sky.

Grey clouds where starting to clump together and it was starting to look like at any given moment the sky would break and water would pour down in buckets.

"Okay sees you then Jake!" I said quickly, and then shut the car door.

Half running half walking I made my way up the stairs and pushed open the door to the building that was forks high home of the Spartans. Its term 2 in the year hopefully I'll be out of here before term 3.

Australian schools never really had anything like that our sports teams where just called our school names.

Except for one school I went to they were known as the Gorokan goats lame right?

I continued down the hallway to the school office hoping it hadn't changed locations on the way I got a few strange looks from the teenagers passing me.

"Hey look new girl" a bunch of jocks standing around a locker commented loud enough for me to hear, they turned pushing aside the cheerleaders that where hanging of them and watched me as I walked past.

I tossed my hair and gave a flirty smile to the boys which resulted in a whole lot of death glares from the cheerleaders.

These boys and girls were so not worth my time.

"Hey newbie!" a male voice called from behind me.

I turned to see one of the jocks running towards me with a huge smile practically taking over his face.

He stopped in front of me and stuck out his hand.

"I'm mike, mike newton"

I knew this kid, he always gave me cuts in line and followed me around like some lost puppy, and he had clearly forgotten who I was.

"I know who you are mike" I replied smirking

He gave me a clueless blank look

"Here let me help, you gave me cuts in line all through 2nd semester in freshman year, we hanged out like every day at la push" this was quiet amusing to see his face suddenly realise who he was talking to

"Oh my god! Ali?!" he spluttered out in shock

"Surprise" I laughed

"What are you doing here?" he engulfed me in a hug

"I moved back only yesterdayâ€|. Mike your crushing me" I said

He pulled back and smiled at me.

"You look so different! Check out your tan chika!" mike was looking me up and down.

Mike hadn't changed much, he'd grown taller and a bit more toned but he still had the same blue eyes and dopey smile that was plastered to his face every day when we were freshman.

"Yeah Australian beaches become addictive" I laughed but I didn't mention that I basically lived in the ocean.

"So who else is still around?" I changed subjects

"Oh Eric, jess, Angela, Tyler a bunch of other people. You should sit with us at lunch!" he looked so happy to me see it made me smile.

I had missed mike even though his kind of clingy he's still a loyal friend.

"Sure I'd love to do you still sit at the same table?" I asked

"Sure do! Need help getting to your first class?"

"I need to pick up my time table, walk with me" I said turning to the direction of the office

We walked to the end of the hall and turned right into the office.

I headed over to the lady at the desk, she looked up and smiled.

"Hey I'm Aleeya I need to pick up my timetable" I said smiling back

She nodded and clicked a few things on the computer and then stood up and walked to the printer at the back of the office and came back with a white slip of paper with my class schedule on it.

Aleeya spencer: junior

1st hour: English D9 Mr Wilson

2nd hour: Spanish beginners E6 Mrs Nicholas

Break 1 - 1 hour

3th hour: Ancient history A7 Mr Penfold

4rd hour: Creative writing D8 Mrs Proust

I was relieved that there wasn't any science subjects on my time table I would die, my hate for science is indescribable also because I know magic is real and science definitely can't explain everything.

"So what's first?" mike asked coming to stand behind me

"English in room D9 with Mr Wilson" I said looking up from the paper

"Yeah I can't remember where that is, can you show me" I laughed

"Sure thing" mike grabbed my hand and dragged me out of the office and down the hall till we turned right and then left past other class rooms and people standing around outside their lockers.

We stopped outside a doorway that read D9 in big block letters on the door.

"Thanks mike I'll find you later" I went to walk into the room when mike grabbed my arm

"What?" I asked

"Here in case you get lost call me and I'll find you" he pulled out a pen and wrote his number on my hand

"Thanks mike" I smiled and turned and walked into the room.

A few students were already in their seats and the teacher was standing at the white board writing stuff or the lesson.

"Excuse me sir I'm in your class now" I said to the teacher

"Oh yes! Your Aleeya the new student from Australia. I'm Mr Wilson, take a seat anywhere you would like and here's the book we are studying" Mr Wilson handed me a book from his desk it was a copy of the book thief.

Great IV already read the book twice and I studied it first term when I was in Australia

I walked to an empty desk and dropped the book on the table and my bag down beside me and then slid into the seat.

Reaching down I opened my bag and reached for my note book when someone cleared their throat beside me.

I looked up to see a guy standing beside my desk.

He had dirty blonde hair and incredibly black eyes; he was wearing a black shirt, black jeans and a black leather jacket.

"Yes?" I asked this guy just looked like trouble.

"That's my seat" he said anger tinting his voice and his black eyes starring daggers at me.

"Well there are plenty of other seats" I said smirking

He leaned forward so he was right in my face I leaned forward and met him half way, his eyes faltered for a second then he was back.

"Go find one then" he growled.

"I think I like this one" I replied sweetly

He stared at me with let's just say one extremely pissed look and took the empty seat beside me.

There were a few shocked gasps from the students I hadn't even noticed were watching.

I'm pretty sure he sat there staring at me the entire time; I just ignored him and paid attention to the lesson.

When the bell went to signal the end of the lesson I grabbed my books and stood from the desk.

Something crashed into my shoulder so fast I didn't see anything until my face was about to crash into the floor my books flying everywhere.

I looked up to see the guy who wanted my seat before smirking as he walked out of the room.

A few other students ran to help me up and grabbed my books for me I thanked them politely.

You just messed with the wrong mermaid I thought, my anger started to boil over and I couldn't help but think that's it's a great thing that I didn't have Rikki's fire power.

The Spanish went really quick having spent 4 years I learnt Spanish quickly because virtually no one spoke English.

I walked out of the class and it the hallway full of hungry teenagers.

I followed the crowd to the cafeteria and searched for mike.

"Hey ail!" a voice called behind me

I turned to see mike standing on one of the chairs waving like a crazy person so I could see him through the crowd of students.

Pushing my way through the crowd I finally managed to reach mikes

table.

"That took a lot of effort" I huffed dropping down into the vacant seat next to mike.

The people I could recognise were Eric, Angela and there was another girl but I didn't know her.

"who is this mike?" a girl asked she seemed to have a slight undertone of jealousy in her voice she sat down on the other side of mike and moved her chair closer to him.

I recognised her immediately the one and only Jessica.

"It's good to see you again jess" I smirked

"Have we met?" she asked confused

"Oh yeah plenty of times" I laughed

She sat there completely clueless

"Mike wants to introduce me?" I asked smiling

"You remember Aleeya don't you jess" mike smirked when realisation crossed everyone's face at the table.

"What the hell are you doing here, you look so different!" jess bounded out of her seat and wrapped me in a hug, yeah she is a bit insecure and bitchie but she became my best friend when I was here last.

"Took you long enough!" I laughed

Eric and Angela both gave me a hug and said how much they missed me and couldn't believe I was here.

"What are you doing here?" Eric asked

"My mum is working in Washington and she decided to dump me at my brothers for who knows how long" I grumbled

I still was holding a grudge against my mum for leaving me here.

"It's not so bad here ail" Angela said smiling a weak smile as if trying to convince herself that it was true.

I just then remembered the other girl at the table I didn't know.

"Hey I'm Aleeya, I don't think we have met" I smiled

"Um... No we haven't. I'm Bella" she said vaguely she wasn't paying that much attention instead she was scanning the cafeteria and swivelling in her chair to see every space of the room.

I shrugged and picked up the apple of mikes tray

"Why do you get the apple if you don't like them mike?" I asked.

Ever since I met him he had always gone on about how much he hates apples.

"I don't know usually Bella takes it" he said shrugging

I bit into the apple, it wasn't like she was going to notice if it was gone.

"Something's not rightâ€|" Bella whispered to herself.

"Huh?" I asked her

She jumped and turned around to look at me

"I didn't say anything" she smiled but I could see past it something like panic was behind her smile.

"I'll catch you guys later" Bella said standing up and walking out quickly.

She was weird.

"Don't mind Bella she has issues" jess said taking a sip from her bottle.

Conversation continued as normal question were asked about how I was what's Australia like blah blah...

I only remembered then that I didn't have my phone on me and I wanted to know if I had any texts from the girls so I excused myself to go get it from my locker.

The hallways were really quiet while I walked down the long corridors.

I was about to turn the corner to the hallway that had my locker when I heard some voices

"You almost lost it in there Leo!" a beautiful tall slender blonde girl yelled at Mr tall and brooding chair snob guy who I know as Leo.

I jumped back behind the wall out of sight from them.

"She provoked me Rosalie!" he growled at the blonde now known as Rosalie.

There were two other people there a tall guy with copper hair styled messy and the girl I knew as Bella.

"She doesn't know who she is provoking" Bella whispered I almost couldn't hear her.

"no shit she doesn't" Leo growled and then turned to punch the closets locker with so much force he created a huge dint in the metal door the crash radiated throughout the hallways making me jump.

"Edward I seriously can't handle this or her! I'll be at the house" and with that Leo walked away from the group.

"What are we going to do with him" Rosalie sighed looking at Edward

"Jasper, Emmett and I will help him don't worry" Edward said placing his hand on Rosalie's shoulder.

He then grabbed Bella's hand and walked in the same direction that Leo had gone.

Rosalie glanced at the locker and yanked it open.

She punched the metal door from the inside and to my amazement the door returned back to normal.

She grinned and then walked away also heading in the same direction the others had gone.

I stepped out from behind the wall and raced to my locker quickly entered my combo 214 and retrieved my phone, I had no messages or calls so I slipped it in my pocket and walked quickly back towards the cafeteria.

Having no idea what I had just seen and something about it gave me a really bad feeling.

I was sure they were talking about me but I hadn't really provoked him and it was just a seat for god's sake.

The rest of the day ended quickly and Jacob was outside in the car waiting for me already,

We talked a little bit on the way home I told him about meeting all my old friends again but I left out that weird scene I stumbled across at lunch.

He dropped me off at the house and said he would be swinging by later tonight.

I headed up to my room and changed out of my jeans and turquoise tank into a pair of grey sweats and a white mid-drift cut top. Then headed downstairs where I watched some American top model reruns.

Just as the sun had gone down blanketing the thick forest that Sam and Emily's house was so well hidden within did Sam and Emily return home.

"Hey" Sam called from the kitchen where the clanging of pots and pans was coming from.

"Hey!" I called back stretching and standing up from the couch, making my way to the kitchen.

"Hey sweetie I made you a cup of tea" Emily said sweetly sliding a steaming cup of tea across the counter to where I had plonked down on one of the stools.

"Thanks" I said

I sipped on the tea and kept quiet while Emily and Sam made dinner.

"Aleeya the boys are coming over again tonight so I can make you something to eat now so you can go upstairs and do whatever homework you need to without being disturbed or if you want you can have dinner with all of us later" Emily asked from the stove where she was cooking.

"No it's good I don't have much homework ill have dinner with you guys" I said smiling

Sliding of the chair I decided to go back to my TV shows.

I was passing through the dining room when the front door blew open.

"Smells good Em!" Paul called walking forward with jarred stuck in a head lock

"I'm that hungry! Chasing those damn vamps-" Embry started to say but was interrupted.

"Embry" Jacob growled then glanced at me

They all followed his gaze and found me.

I squirmed under their gaze, come on seriously I had a bunch of hot guys gazing at me.

The looks changed then and it became more of a stare I looked down and noticed why.

I was standing there in my half top and track pants, my hair was out and pushed to one side you could see my glowing tan, and my athletic body, hey being a mermaid and getting to swim all the time has its perks

I turned around blushing deeply and quickly made my way to the lounge room.

God was that awkward thank god Sam wasn't there I thought.

It wasn't till now that I actually processed what was said.

Embry had said something about chasing but then was cut off by Jake like Embry shouldn't have been saying thatâ€|

Odd... And why are they always shirtless? It's like -5 degrees outside what the hell?!

Something about all of those boys didn't add upâ€|

7. Kill of the Night

Hello fantabulous fans! Feel free to hate on me because I take forever to update I'm relay sorry about that but 3 major works and the HSC is so not easy. But I'm practically done till late October so

I should have more time to write ( wooh! Parties with dancing gummibears!) " don't ask-

Any who without further ado here's the new chapter!

Coraline

Kill of the night
>by Gin Wigmore (vampire academy soundtrack)

So basically this town gets weirder every day.

The worst part of the rain had held off for the rest of the week.

School had been pretty good now I had some familiar friends and the endless questions about Australia had started to run out though jess would still ask about the boys there and every time Mikes face would fall a little bit.

I hadn't seen Leo for the rest of the week and for that I was actually pretty thankful.

It was Friday if I could make it through today I will have proved to myself that I can survive being a mermaid in Forks.

I jumped out of bed and immediately turned on my small heater because my room was freezing.

Stumbling to my draws with my arms wrapped around me I was in search of some warm clothes for school

I pulled out a pair of grey jeans and my black knitted jumper as well as my turquoise scarf.

I went into the bathroom to take a quick bath because I still had time before Jacob would come to pick me up.

Ten seconds later I was in the bath and had my orange scales and tail.

Pretty sure I was in that bath for about half an hour, I didn't plan to stay that long but I was kind of dreading having to pull myself out of the bath tub and end up on the super cold tiles, I found myself wishing I had Rikki's power.

Of course I could have just pulled all the water out of the tub and gotten out when I changed back but then I would have to face the cold air both options seemed as bad as each other.

"Ali you here?" Jacobs's voice carried up the stairs

"Yeah hold on!" I called back

OH HELL! Giving no second thought I wretched myself out of the bath tub and flopped onto the shockingly cold tiles.

"What was that? Are you okay?" Jacob fired my two most hated and terrifying words I had grown to fear ever since I became a mermaid.

"Yeah stay down there though! I'll be down in a minute!" I called back but couldn't help but notice the panic in my voice and mentally scolded myself for letting it show

Relief flooded me when I saw the hair drier sitting on the bathroom counter like it was a glowing beacon of hope.

I snatched it from the counter and flicked it on praying it was plugged in; when it roared to life I let out a sigh of relief.

My eyes flickered over to the door; it was definitely locked because with this blaring I won't be able to hear if Jacob were to come upstairs.

I know I could have just pulled of the water but I was in no state to try it and if it took even longer than the other night, and if Jacob barged in I would be naked on the floor with a huge ball of water floating in the air.

Somehow finding me just naked without the ball of water seemed like a better option.

About a minute later I felt myself become just about completely dry.

I ran the hair dryer over my tail one last time and then felt the tingling sensation rush through my body then transformed back to myself.

I flung the hair dryer aside after turning it off and jumped up of the tiles because against my naked skin it was damn cold.

Quick as hell I changed to my clothes and then put on a pair of red socks and pulled on my pair of black combat boots detailed with small silver studs up the side.

I added a small amount of makeup to my face then a thin layer of lip-gloss.

Grabbing my bag from the end of my bed I quickly made it out of my room and down stairs

"Hey Jacob" I said, he was standing at the kitchen bench with two coffee's in his hand and a brown paper bag.

"Hi, I brought coffee" he smiled holding up the cups.

"Jake we have coffee here you know" I laughed walking towards him.

I took one of the coffees and took a small sip.

It was nice and hot as it gushed down my throat.

"Yeah I know but I just felt like it" he smiled taking a seat at the table and I did the same.

We made casual chit chat while we sipped our coffee.

I liked Jacob he was nice and honest; he was like a big brother kind of friend.

"We should get you to school before your late" he stood up from the seat and headed for the front door.

I grabbed my bag and followed him out to his car.

"Thanks for the ride I'll see you after school" I said sliding out the car

"Yeah see you then" Jake replied, I shut the door and walked towards Mike and Jess that were standing next to Tyler's car.

"Hey Ali!" Mike greeted me

"Hey guys" I smiled

We walked into school as the bell rang and head of to our first class, great English I really hoped that crazy ass Leo guy was not here today. I pushed open the door to the English room and looked up to find Leo sitting in the seat that he apparently had claimed as his.

A blonde cheerleader I didn't know sat down in the seat across from him her nose buried into her I phone frantically texting someone. When a nerdy looking girl tripped over her bag the cheerleader shrieked and complained about her Ipad inside the bag and if it was damaged the nerdy girl would pay for it and somehow I don't think she meant paying for the money to fix it. The cheerleader pulled a bottle of water from her bag and placed it on the corner of her desk closest to Leo. Deciding to have some fun with this I walked forward he was smirking up at me as I walked down the aisle of tables.

I took the seat one back from him because this moment was about to become I million times better all I had to do was wait for the exact moment now.

Taking my time I pulled out my books and laid them on the desk, the teacher came in and began writing on the board and all the class was inside now.

Leo was writing in his book but the cheerleader was still texting so I thought now was the best moment when everyone was distracted. Cautiously I flicked my wrist in the direction of the water bottle. Its contents exploded all over the cheerleader and Leo. Leo jumped to his feet fuming with rage and the cheerleader screamed as her mascara began to streak down her cheeks and her phone saturated in water.

The class erupted in laughter at the two of them though some stayed silent and were just gapping at the two.

I looked over to find the nerdy girl giggling with one hand pressed to her mouth to stifle the laughs.

"What the hell?!" Leo snapped looking at the cheerleader.

"You think I did this, I'm the one with a saturated phone!" she shrieked

I burst out laughing at the two of them; Leo turned and laid his furious gaze on me.

"You did this?" he growled

"Nope but I wish I had" I lied between bursts of laughter

He slammed his fists down on my table making me jump out of my chair because water had dripped onto my desk.

"You better watch yourself" he snarled pointing at me.

He grabbed his bag and stormed from the room.

Everyone in the room sat opened mouth even the teacher.

The cheerleader grabbed her purse and twitched out of the room her face a black streaky mess.

"Well um students let's try and get on with the lesson, um I have nothing to wipe your desk down with so just take that one up the back Aleeya" the teacher spoke pointing to a table up the back.

The rest of the lesson went pretty normal neither of them came back which I was thankful for.

Leo hadn't scared me, he had no idea I was a mermaid with super powers and after standing up to Denman and charlotte and Zane when he and Rikki would fight not a lot could rattle me and after being to a number of different countries and starting at many different school it took a lot to get to me.

By the time last period rolled around I was so happy. Creative writing was one of my all-time favourite classes they only offered it for one term at my school in Australia and it was an after school class so I rarely went then decided to drop the subject because as much as I loved writing story's that where always inspired by mermaids and oceans I would have rather been out there living the adventures.

The bell rang and we all poured out of the classroom and into the halls.

Deciding I needed some books from my locker before I went to the car park to find Jake I set off towards the other end of the school where my locker was. A lot of the hallways were quiet and empty because it was Friday. I unlocked my locker and pulled open the door. Books spilled out and crashed to the floor around my feet. I let out a groan and dropped down to my knee to pick up the books.

I piled them up in my hands and started shoving them back into my locker and the ones I needed into my bag. Something cold touched the top of my shoulder. I spun expecting it to be cold water but came face to face with Leo.

He held out a book that I must have missed. I snatched the book out of his hands and shoved it into my bag. We started at each other neither of us saying anything. I'd had enough of this weird stare off so I slammed my locker shut and slipped past him and continued down the hallway. Before I turned the corner I glanced back and he was looking straight at me a small smirk on his lips.

I practically ran to the car park eager to get out of the school and far away from Leo.

I dived into the car and dumped my bag on the floor.

"Hey how was your day?" Jake asked pulling away from the foot path at the main entrance of the school.

"It was okay" I answered smiling at Jake

Suddenly Jake slammed on the brakes; I lurched forward in my seat then slammed backwards into the seat. "What the hell?" Jacob exclaimed beeping the horn.

I looked up to see that I car had pulled out in front of us and when my eyes found the driver I gasped.

It was Leo.

My eyes met his; he smirked then sped of down the street his car engine roaring.

A low growl sounded in the car and it came from Jacob.

"You okay?" I asked him giving him a curious look.

"Fine" he spat out through clenched teeth.

Jacob dropped me home and left quickly he said he had some important meeting.

When I went inside the house was empty and there was a note in the kitchen from Emily saying she would be back at 7 and that there was money for me to order some food and to call Jake if I needed anything.

"I swear Jake might as well be my brother I see him more than I do Sam" I spoke into the silence.

The sun had peaked out from behind the grey clouds and looked like it was going to stay there for a bit so I headed out to the beach for some air and maybe a quick swim.

Once down at the beach I walked along the shore line and looked out towards the horizon.

It was too rough to swim so instead I just enjoyed the view.

When my feet started to hurt I sat down on a bit of driftwood that was dry.

A puddle had formed in the sand in front of me.

I checked over my shoulder to make sure no one was around.

Reaching out my hand to the water I began to make it rise.

I played with the water turning it into 2 separate balls.

Using both hands I juggled the balls and began to make them into shapes.

It was good to practice with the water it felt like it had been ages since I had used my powers even though I used it this morning; I liked just playing with it.

"Hey Ali! Is that you?" a voice yelled out from near by Startled I dropped the balls and they landed with a splash.

I jumped to my feet and saw who had called out to me. It was Paul and Jared.

"Hey guys" I said trying to sound casual.

"What are you doing down here?" Paul asked

"Oh nothing just thought I would go for a walk" I replied

Jared and Paul pulled off their shirts and dropped them on the sand

"What are you guys doing?" I asked them

"Going for a swim, wanna come with?" Jared answered

"No thanks, I should get back got homework to do. I'll see you boys later" I blurted then quickly high tailed it out of there waving over my shoulder as I left the beach.

I woke up and groaned as I kicked the covers off me and rolled out of bed.

My stomach was growling loudly and I thought that if I didn't get food I'd die.

I stumbled out of my room and to the stair case.

A yawn escaped my lips and I rubbed the sleep out of my eyes as I went down the steps.

Accidently my foot got caught in the hem of my sweat pants and I tripped down the stairs.

I hit my head on a step and my vision blurred as I tumbled to the bottom.

"Ali!" I heard someone call but my vision went blank and I passed out.

My eyes fluttered open to focus on a white ceiling with bright florescent lights that made my eyes hurt.

Using my hands I pushed myself up of the bed to sit up but when I got halfway there my head began to spin and my vision blurred.

I slumped back on the bed confused.

Looking around I got a pretty good idea of where I was.

I was in a hospital bed and the curtain had been pulled around so I couldn't see around to room but I could hear all the other people in the room.

I looked over my shoulder and saw a monitor that was making a steady beeping sound.

The curtain moved and in walked Sam.

"I'm so glad you're okay" Sam said rushing towards me and hugging me gently

He pulled back and sat down in the chair next to the bed

"What happened?" I asked him confused

"You tripped and you fell down the stairs and hit your head pretty hard" Sam explained

The curtain pulled back again and in walked a pale man with blonde hair and gold eyes

"Hello I'm Doctor Cullen, how are you feeling?" he asked as he picked up the clipboard at the end of the bed and flipped through the pages.

"I'm okay, my head hurts a bit though. Wait your Dr. Cullen Leo's father?" I asked

Jess and Angela had told me all about the Cullen's and there back story.

She explained how Bella had dated Edward then they broke up and his family left and then they came back and everything turned back to normal, though Mike had told me about all the stuff that had gone down with Bella and Jacob that I had no idea about.

"Yes I am" Dr. Cullen smiled an extremely white smile at me.

His blonde hair was softly slicked back and he wore a white lab coat with black pants and a blue dress shirt.

He placed a jar of small pills into my hand and told me to take one if I felt pain.

"You were very lucky to not have broken anything" he nodded at me then to Sam then left the room.

Sam's eyes hardened and his jaw was clenched and his nose wrinkled as Dr. Cullen walked out.

An hour later we were back home after the nurse gave me another test for a concussion.

Ever so slowly with precaution I made my way up stairs to my bedroom and collapsed onto the bed exhausted even after all my time being knocked out and just having woken up before my graceful decent of the staircase, which reminded me I was still in my pyjamas. But I came to the conclusion that I was not going to get out of them anytime soon.

Picking up my phone of the night stand I checked for messages.

I had 3 texts and 2 calls from Rikki

5 texts and 6 calls from Cleo

4 texts and 2 calls from Emma

And shockingly I had 17 missed calls from Lewis

What the hell was going on, this isn't like them.

Dialling Lewis's number I pressed the phone to my ear and waited for him to pick up.

Lewis picked up the phone on the second ring.

"Alyeea is that you?!" Lewis exclaimed

"Yeah it's me what's going on?" I asked

"We were so worried, Cleo had spoken with Jacob and said that you were in hospital but he didn't know why. We thought they might have found out about you being a mermaid" Lewis said his voice not dropping down a level when he said mermaid which told me he was alone or at least with the girls.

"What? No that's not what happened at all it was just a fall. Kind of stupid really I tripped on my pyjama pants and tripped down the stairs and knocked myself out. I woke up in the hospital I have no idea what tests they ran when I was out of it. But really guys I'm fine. Are the girls there?" I asked him

"Yeah here's Cleo" he answered

For the next hour I spoke with them all on speaker phone and told them about Leo and how all the boys on the reservation wore like no clothing.

"Aleeya? You home?" I heard Jake's voice call from downstairs

"Guys I got to go" I told them then hung up.

"Yeah coming!" I called out walked out of my room and being extra careful going down the stairs.

Keeping my eyes on the steps I almost bumped right into Paul who was standing at the bottom with a smirk on his face

"What?" I said putting my hands on my hips and looking up at him.

I didn't like Paul he seemed like a trouble making jack ass.

"Just making sure you don't tumble down to your death again" he laughed

"Yeah well as you can see I'm at the bottom and I'm fine" and with that I pushed past him and walked into the kitchen.

"Hey Ali, Sam and Emily went out and they wanted me to keep an eye on you and so all the boys invited themselves to" Jake said coming to stand in front of me.

"Well I'm fine just hungry" I answered as my stomach growled and I now realised I hadn't eaten all day.

"I'll fix you some dinner" Jacob smiled then went to the fridge and started pulling out food to cook.

I took a seat at the dining table and watched Jake cook.

"So what's fun to do around here?" I asked Jake but it was Embry who answered.

"Well there's not a lot of girly things to do, but there's cliff diving" Embry smirked and sat down at the table next to me.

"Cliff diving?" I said excitement filling my voice.

Shock flickered in Embry's eyes "wow a girl who likes cliff diving" he laughed leaning back in his chair.

Oh crap... I mentally scolded myself because there was no way I could go cliff diving and not have my secret revealed to them all.

"Well yeah it sounds cool" I flicked my hair and tried my best to sound bored and to ignore the weird look Embry gave me.

20 minutes later I had a huge bowl of spaghetti in front of me and I wolfed it down like it was last night on earth because I was starving

"Wow someone's hungry" Paul chuckled as I walked past me to the kitchen.

"I'm hungry you got a problem?" I snapped

"No problem" he smirked then went into the kitchen and began to pour himself a glass of water from the tap.

Payback Time, twisting my hand under the table I manipulated the water from the tap to spurt him in the face.

He began shouting and sputtering water.

I practically fell out of my seat laughing

"Did you do that?!" Paul growled

"From all the way over here?" I giggled

"I know it was you!" he growled and had his eyes pinned on me like daggers.

I tried my best not to squirm under his gaze and kept my smile planted on his face.

"Paul" Jacob said firmly.

It was then that I noticed Paul's skin was rippling like there were small waves underneath.

Then it just stopped and Paul walked out of the room muttering curses.

That was very odd.

About 2 hours later the boys left and it was just me and Jake home he decided to wait till Emily and Sam got home.

We were sitting on the couch together watching a movie.

"You know I don't need a babysitter Jake" I said

"I know, I'm just keeping you company" he smiled at me

"So really what is there to do for fun here?" I asked him.

"Well there's a bonfire down at the beach tomorrow night, the guys planned it but you should invite some of your friends" he suggested.

"What if it rains?" I asked

"The rains meant to hold off tomorrow, why you scared of a little water?" he chuckled

"No, just don't want to get sick" I lied smoothly.

After another hour of just watching TV Sam and Emily still hadn't come home and I was starting to fall asleep.

"Jake I think I'm going to go bed I can't stay awake much longer" I said

"Yeah okay" he said, when I looked at him he was still wide awake.

Standing up from the couch I walked past Jake and headed for the kitchen to get a glass of water.

I looked over my shoulder and into the lounge room to make sure Jake wasn't watching me, I didn't want to get my hands wet and turn so I was going to manipulate the water to go into the glass.

Carefully I turned on the tap and water spurted out everywhere, spraying me with water.

I screamed and dropped the cup and it smashed on the ground around my feet, I felt the shards cut me.

Turning of the tap quickly I looked over at Jake who had now run into the kitchen to see what had happened.

Fear painted my face and I stood frozen.

My 10 seconds where up.

I fell to the ground and transformed.

Jacob ran around the counter and came to a shocked stop when he saw me.

"Jake pleaseâ€¦ I can explain" I whimpered.

Jacob stood there shocked and just looked at me.

"Jake please I need your help" I begged and reached out my hand to him.

Tears ran down my cheeks and I could feel the stinging cuts in my tail from the glass.

"please Jacob" I cried looking back at him

He stepped forward and took my hand and kneeled down in front of me.

"What can I do?" he asked

I breathed a sigh of relief.

"I need you to pull me away from the glass" I said my voice shaking

"Okay" but Instead of pulling me he moved around to the side of me

"Put your arms around me" he said

I reached up and wrapped my arms around his neck

He slid one arm behind my back and the other under my tail then lifted me up with surprisingly no effort.

"now what?" he asked

"Put me down over there" I said pointing to the ground next to the table.

He set me down on the ground and kneeled down next to me.

I took a deep shaky breath and tried to calm myself down because inside I was freaking out.

Never have I had to explain what I was to someone id never even told anyone except for Lewis because he was the only one that seemed to know what was going on and then he introduced me to the girls.

"What now?" Jake asked snapping me out of my thoughts.

"Okay don't freak out" I said looking at Jacob

"I won't" he nodded

With a shaky hand I reached out and began to pull the water of my tail, I manipulated the water to move into the kitchen and go down the kitchen sink.

When I was dry I looked up Jake whose eyes were wide with shock.

I felt the tingle in my tail and then I turned back.

Jacob stood up and went to the kitchen and opened up a cabinet pulling out a first aid kit.

He came back over to me and kneeled down at my feet and began to take out bandages and tweezers.

"Don't move okay" he said firmly

"Okay" I answered.

He began to pull small shards of glass from my feet. None of them where too deep except for the one near my ankle.

A huge chunk of the glass had cut me leaving a deep cut.

"This one needs to be cleaned, it's too deep" Jacob said looking up at me

"You can't use anything with water" I told him

He pulled out some alcohol wipes and ripped one open.

"This is going to hurt, but you got to stay still" Jacob said.

He began to clean the cut and it took everything in me to not jerk my leg back.

I bit back my cries of pain and tried to focus on Jacob's face so I wouldn't think about the pain.

A cry escaped my lips as he worked on the cut

"I'm sorry, I'm almost done" Jake said.

He put down the bloodied wipes and looked at me.

"You need to go to hospital" he told me

Pulling my self away from him I scrambled back.

"No, don't Jake please!" I cried

"Ali -" he began but I cut him off

"You can't turn me in! Please Jacob" I begged him

I tried to scrambled back further but my back hit the chair at the dining table

Jacob moved forward quickly and placed his hand on mine.

"I would never do that to you, it's just you need stitches Ali" Jacob explained

I let out the breath I didn't realise I was holding in.

"please Jake I can't go back to hospital" I begged him.

"Okay, calm down. Everything's going to be okay" Jacob assured me then moved back to my feet and began to wrap my ankle with a bandage.

After he was finished he lifted me up of the floor and carried me upstairs to my bedroom and sat me down on the bed.

"I want you to stay here and just calm down, I'll go clean up downstairs" Jacob said then left the room.

I tried to calm down my breathing and get my thoughts together because when Jacob came back upstairs he would probably have a lot of questions.

A bit later Jacob came back upstairs and sat down on the bed next to me.

"So you're a mermaid" he spoke

"Yeahâ€¦ it's kind of a long story. I've been a mermaid for 2 years now. I became one after finding a pool in the bottom of a volcano on an island of the coast of Queensland" I told him

I then explained that if water touches me I have ten seconds before I turn into a mermaid and that I had power over water.

"Are you the only one, is there anyone else who knows?" he asked me calmly

"It's just me, and you're the first person I've ever told" I lied.

I didn't want to tell him about the girls if something happened and my secret got out I would give myself up before I gave them up.

"Please Jacob no one can know about this" I begged him

"I promise I won't tell anyone" he said firmly

He put his arms around me and hugged me

"I'll keep your secret" he said.

We sat in silence with his arm around my shoulder.

I tried to think how the tap could have sprayed me like that because it was perfectly fine before.

"Jake did you look at the tap?" I asked him v=breaking the silence.

"no, why?" he asked

I stood up and limped towards the door.

"Ali you shouldn't walk" Jake rushed forward and grabbed me

"Help me downstairs" I told him.

He helped me downstairs and into the kitchen.

I limped towards the sink and inspected the tap.

"Does that look loose to you?" I asked Jake

He moved forward and looked at it.

"Yeah it does, like someone twisted it"

"Someone?" I growled.

"it was Paul" I said anger painting my voice.

"why would Paul do that but?" Jacob said then his face changed and he realised.

"it was you earlier that made the water hit him" he realised

"Yes, and now I am so getting him back for this" I swore.
